Feeding Recommendations

Why insects? Because insects...

are an ideal basis for hypoallergenic food because they have so far been rarely used as a high-quality protein source in dog food are a very sustainable alternative compared to other animal-based protein sources because the way they are raised produces far less carbon emissions provide the dog not only with high-quality protein, but also with valuable fatty acids.

The protein source of the future! Does your dog struggle to eat standard dog food? Are you looking for a sustainable and healthy solution for your four-legged friend? Good news: you're in the right place! That's because our product InsectDog is THE solution for adult dogs suffering from food intolerances. Seeing as many allergies concern traditional sources of protein, we decided to turn to something totally new: insects!

What's more, our healthy all-in-one food for sensitive dogs has another advantage: while the production of conventional types of meat does considerable harm to the environment, producing food from insect protein is far more environmentally friendly. The production process produces fewer greenhouse gases, uses less water and breeding insects leads to less contamination of the soil.

All in addition to being much more tolerable for your dog! That's because both of our InsectDog products, Hypoallergenic and Sensitive, are alternatives for dogs with allergies and digestive issues. InsectDog hypoallergenic is an all-in-one diet dog food full of valuable fatty acids to help your dog achieve healthy skin and a shiny coat. A clinical study has even proven that hypoallergenic dog food can successfully help dogs with allergies. InsectDog Sensitive combines easily digestible rice and a unique combination of vital substances to best nourish the skin, fur, gut flora and immune system.

Are you ready to become a sustainability pioneer alongside your pooch? Then it's time to try out insect protein!
